

Gilbert Han

Product designer

Experience

Google: Google News 2018 - Current

Product Designer via Adecco

Led in design to improve core experience and create foundation for Special Experience such as 2019 Cricket world Cup.

The Walt Disney Company: Parks and Resorts Digital 2017 - 2018

Product Designer

Spearheaded a Native Mobile App Design System with a suite of Disney Parks & Resorts Apps powered by a Design Language, Patten Library and Prototyping Framework

Microsoft: Office design studio 2014 - 2017

UX Designer

Reimagined and designed in a team for the new Microsoft Office Web experience.

Explored and designed mobile experience that enables users capture, augment and extract information. Built content card framework UX that can accommodate various type of contents with machine learning technology.

Led in design to invent a new feature set called Researcher in Microsoft Office to help students and corporate employee create better content with the power of knowledge graph.

LG electronics: Mobile communication department 2009 - 2012

UX Designer

Designed experiences for Android phone and tablet for LG manufactured devices. Created fundamental UI for LG Android for the first time through various design process and collaboration with stakeholders.

Education

Carnegie Mellon University, Master of Design in Interaction Design

Pittsburgh, USA/ 2014

Ajou University, B.A. in Industrial and Information System Engineering

Seoul, South Korea/ 2009

See more works at here

<http://gilberthan.com/> gilberthan@outlook.com

Award

Honorable mention for gilberthan.com, awwwards.com, 2017

Innovation through collaboration project, Kynamatrix research network, 2014

Student film award in visual poetry, Moving type festival, 2013

Best project of the year, LG electronics, 2011

Best co-worker award, LG electronics, 2010

Competency

Product Design
Interaction Design
Prototyping
Motion Graphic
Visual Design